

Praktikawelten Foundation holds end of year festivities

Praktikawelten Foundation a Non-Governmental Organisation dedicated to social work and improving the lot of the less privileged in society has held festivities to mark the end of another successful year.

The end of year celebrations was first to thank God for making the operations of the organization successful as well as to thank all stakeholders of the NGO for their assistance and support throughout the year.

Present at the celebration were the various volunteers of the NGO, the staff, well-wishers among others.

Supervisor of the Praktikawelten Foundation, Ebenezer Darko acknowledged that without the support of the various stakeholders of the organization its activities would have been futile.

He said, although Praktikawelten Foundation had embarked on many laudable projects in the course of the year, they had plans to expand their scope to benefit a lot more people in society in 2013.

The Programs coordinator of the of the foundation Mrs Peninnah Brefour was expressed satisfaction with what Praktikawelten Foundation had achieved and hope for bigger and better things in the coming year.

Praktikawelten a German word which means "make a difference in the world" has been operating in the country for over 7 years and has similar operations in South Africa, Kenya Namibia and some Latin American countries. The NGO has volunteers who regularly help in various fields of community and public service such as hospitals, media houses, schools as well as social work.